JUVENILE COURT OVERVIEW

This report is the fifty-fifth in a series of juvenile court statistics, and the twenty-first published under the direction of the Division of Youth Services (DYS) and the Department of Social Services' Research and Evaluation Unit, as mandated by Section 219.016.(3), RSMo 1994. This report presents the summary statistics of Missouri's juvenile court system for calendar year 1999.

The numbers represented in this report are not individual children, but separately disposed court referrals. A referral is defined as "any action involving a juvenile which results in a determination, finding, or outcome and a written record maintained in the juvenile's name." A disposed referral is one which has resulted in a "finding" or "outcome."

Examples of findings and outcomes include the following: Court Adjudication, Informal Adjustment, Transfer to Other Court, and Rejection of Referral.

Throughout this report, the term "referral" means "disposed referral."

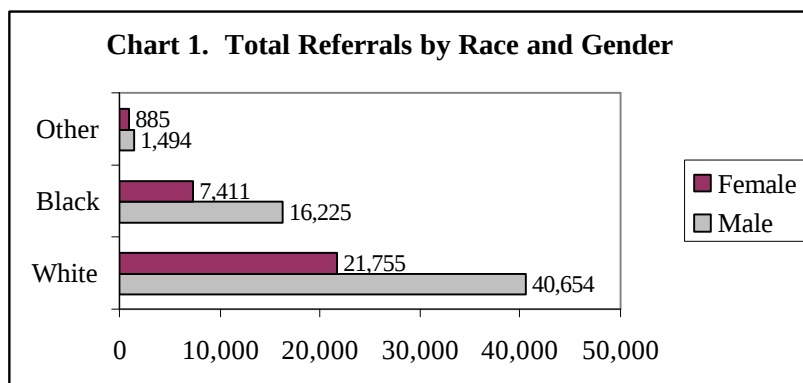

In calendar year 1999, the 45 juvenile court circuits disposed 88,424 referrals. This is a 14 percent increase over the six-year period since 1994, and a two percent increase over 1998.

Table 1.
Annual Referrals
Year	Referrals
1994	77,460
1995	80,175
1996	84,131
1997	86,118
1998	86,447
1999	88,424

NOTE: The number of children represented by these referrals can not be accurately reported due to inconsistencies in identification systems from circuit to circuit. Therefore, an unduplicated statewide count of individual children is not available.

Race and Gender Comparisons

Chart 1 shows the gender and racial breakdown of all referrals in 1999. Males made up the larger portion of each racial grouping, accounting for 66 percent of all referrals, while females made up 34 percent. White youth comprised 71 percent of the referral population, black youth comprised 27 percent, and almost three percent of referrals were of other races.

Referral Types

Referrals to Missouri's juvenile courts break down into four categories:

Law Violations:	Acts which would be in violation of the Missouri Criminal Code if they were committed by an adult.
Status Violations:	Acts which are violations only if committed by a juvenile. These include such infractions as truancy and running away from home.
Abuse, Neglect, Custody: (A/N/C)	Reports of Missouri children who were victims of abuse or neglect, and children involved in custody disputes, transfers, or terminations of parental rights.
Administrative:	Reported referrals of violations of court orders. Prior to 1992, this category also included permanency planning reviews and other miscellaneous referrals such as probation violations.

Table 2. Juvenile Court Referral Statistics: 1990 - 1999

* The definitions for Administrative reporting changed in 1992.

~ The definitions for Status Offense reporting changed in 1994 to include curfew violations.

Table 2 shows the breakdown of all referrals into the four referral categories over the past ten years. Referrals to all categories, with the exception of Administrative, increased over 1998. Administrative referrals decreased by seven percent. As in the past, the Law Violation category contained the most referrals, at 56 percent.

Referral Trends

Chart 2 illustrates the change in total referrals, by category, over the past ten years. While an increase has been the general trend for each, status violations show the most dramatic increase (79%), due in part to definition changes in reporting. From 1990 to 1999, law violation referrals increased 27 percent, while abuse, neglect and custody referrals increased six percent.

Referral Sources

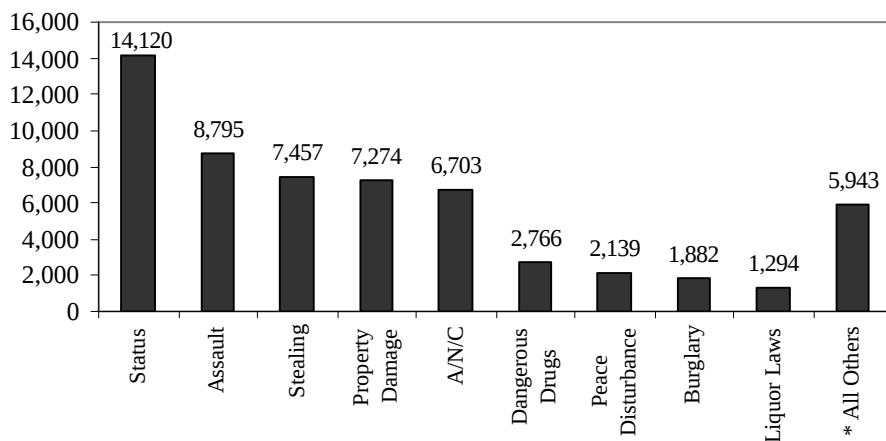

Referrals to the Missouri juvenile court system can come from many sources. In 1999, 66 percent of all referrals were initiated by law enforcement. As in the past, more than half of the abuse, neglect and custody referrals were initiated by the Department of Social Services' Division of Family Services (DFS). Status offense referrals were more likely to be made by schools or municipal police. The juvenile courts and parents were also the initiators of large numbers of referrals. Table 3 shows the sources of all referrals to the Missouri juvenile courts.

Most Common Major Allegations

Chart 3. Most Common Major Allegation: Male

Charts 3 and 4 illustrate the most common major allegations, by gender, for 1999 referrals. Although status violation has the largest number of referrals, males are more likely to be referred for law violations than any other type of referral. Assault, stealing, and property damage are in the top five reasons for referral.

Chart 4. Most Common Major Allegation: Female

Females are most likely to be referred to the juvenile courts for status violations. Abuse, neglect and custody (A/N/C) is the next major referral category. The number of female referrals for law violations of any kind is much lower both as a percentage of total female referrals and as compared to male referrals.

* The top nine referral reasons for each gender are listed. "All Others" totals the remaining reasons for referral.

Disposition of Referrals

After a youth has been referred to a juvenile court, a formal judgment or informal decision is made about how to handle the case. The possible determinations or outcomes fall into two categories: (1) those that are handled formally with a petition to the court, and (2) those that are informally adjusted outside of the court.

The formal dispositions are:

True, Out-of-Home:	The allegation is found to be true and the youth is placed out of his or her home. The placement may be with the Division of Youth Services, a foster home, a relative, or some other agency.
True, In-Home:	The allegation is found to be true and the youth receives services in his or her own home.
True, No Services:	The allegation is found to be true, but the youth receives no services.
Not True:	The allegation is found to be not true.
Motion to Dismiss:	The court sustains a motion to dismiss and the case is closed.
Dismiss for Certification:	The court sustains a motion to dismiss and the case is transferred to an adult criminal court to be processed under the criminal code.

The informal dispositions are:

Adjust without Supervision:	No more than one face-to-face contact is made between court personnel and the juvenile. This usually results in the giving of advice, counsel or a verbal warning.
Adjust with Supervision:	Either a verbal or written agreement is made to put the juvenile under court supervision. This usually includes some sort of restitution or community service.
Adjust - No Action:	No action is taken by the juvenile officer other than the collection of information.
Transfer to Other Juvenile Court:	Jurisdiction over the juvenile is transferred to another juvenile court for disposition.
Transfer to Other Agency:	The youth's case record is turned over to another agency for disposition.
Referral Rejected:	No reason is found to sustain the referral.

The dispositions of 1999 referrals to Missouri juvenile courts are shown in Chart 5. Over three-quarters (78 percent) of all referrals were informally disposed.

Charts 6 and 7 show the outcomes of formally and informally disposed referrals. “W/O Supervision” was the finding for the largest number of referrals.

Formal dispositions accounted for 21 percent of all referral outcomes. The percentage of formal referrals remained about the same from 1998 to 1999; however, the referrals found true and placed out-of-home decreased by four percent. Also, the number of referrals certified to adult court declined by 16 percent.

A total of 6,880 referrals were placed out-of-home in 1999. Abuse, neglect and custody referrals made up 58 percent of all out-of-home placements. Law violation referrals accounted for 25 percent, status referrals made up 11 percent, and administrative referrals and miscoded referrals each totaled three percent.

Fifty-six percent of all out-of-home placements were made to DFS. Another 18 percent of these placements were made to DYS. Frequently, youths were placed with relatives, court residential care, or some other private agency.

Chart 8 shows the distribution of out-of-home placements.

In-home services can be ordered by the court or provided informally by court personnel. In-home services were provided for 19,392 referrals in 1999 (formal and informal). The type of provider was not identified in all cases, but 18,783 provider types were identified. Eighty-six percent of in-home service cases were supervised by juvenile court personnel. (Chart 9.)

Certifications to Adult Court

In 1999, there were 189 referrals dismissed from the juvenile courts to allow certification to adult court. Table 4 shows the number of dismissed referrals by age and race.

Pre-Hearing Placements

At the time of a referral, a juvenile may be detained awaiting a determination. Two types of facilities are used for detention: secure and non-secure. During 1999, 11,910 referrals were detained prior to hearing. Males comprised 65 percent of all placements, and they were more likely to be detained in a secure facility. A breakdown of all detainees by category and gender is provided below in Table 5.

There are several types of facilities in which non-secure placements may be made: Foster Home, Group Home, Institution or Facility, Relative, and Other. In 1999, the largest portion of these placements was made to the foster home category. Chart 10 details the percentage of placements into the different categories.

Chart 10. Non-Secure Pre-Hearing Placements: Type of Facility

Chart 11 shows the operators of the non-secure facilities. The operators of a facility can be: DFS, the Department of Mental Health (DMH), Juvenile Court, City or County Government, Private Agency, Relative, or Other. DFS was the operator of the facilities in 74 percent of the disposed referrals that had a non-secure placement.

LAW VIOLATION REFERRALS

Law violation referrals (49,323) made up 56 percent of all referrals to the juvenile court system in 1999. A law violation represents a single delinquent act, even though several offenses may have been committed at the same time by the child referred. The most serious violation that resulted in a final disposition is recorded as the major allegation for the referral.

Law Violation Outcomes

Chart 12 depicts the outcomes of all law referrals. Informal adjustment without supervision accounted for 27 percent of all law violation outcomes. Informal adjustments accounted for 82 percent of law violation referrals.

Prior Violations

The average number of prior law violations per referral varies greatly among different violations. Referrals for Gambling, Obstructing Judicial Process, and Robbery are shown to have some of the highest incidences of prior allegations. (Table 6.)

Age Distribution of Law Violators

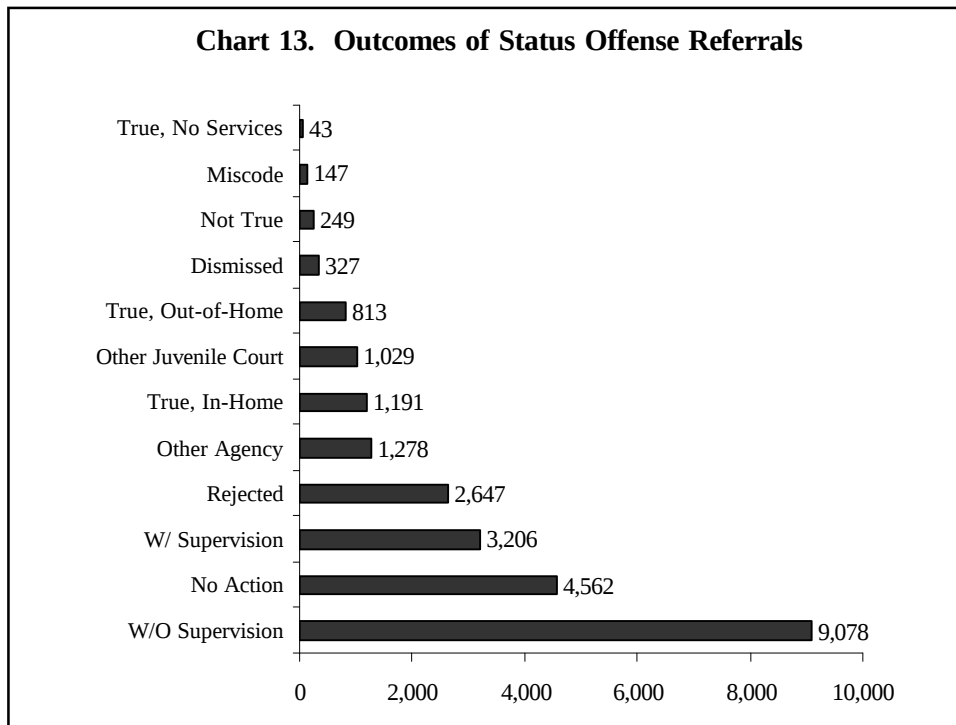

Nearly half (24,011) of all the law violation referrals in 1999 were 15- and 16-year-old youths. This age group was most likely to be referred for assault, stealing, or property damage. This same pattern can be seen among each of the age groups.

STATUS OFFENSE REFERRALS

Status Offense Outcomes

More status offense referrals were handled informally than formally. The number that were adjusted informally with supervision increased by 19 percent over 1998, and those referrals found to be true, out-of-home, decreased by 15 percent. Aside from these, the proportion of each of the outcomes remained approximately the same as in 1998. (Chart 13.)

Status offenses are those offenses that are not considered violations if committed by adults. In 1999, status offenses accounted for 28 percent of all referrals. The category with the largest number of referrals was “Truancy,” which had 6,056. “Absent from Home” was the only category in which the number of female referrals outnumbered the male referrals. (Chart 14.)

Status Offense Placements

Pre-hearing placements for status referrals are somewhat rare. Only seven percent of 1999 status referrals were detained prior to hearing. Of those juveniles held, 1,053 (60 percent) were held in a secure facility, 641 (36 percent) were held in a non-secure facility, and 67 (four percent) were held in both secure and non-secure facilities pending their hearings. Runaways were more likely than other status offenders to be held in a secure setting. (Table 8.)

In 1999, 915 juveniles who were referred for status offenses were placed out-of-home: 38 percent were placed in the care of DFS; 23 percent were placed in the care of DYS; 19 percent were placed into juvenile court residential care; six percent were placed with private agencies; six percent received supervised probation. The rest were placed elsewhere, including DMH, public agencies, or with relatives. (Table 9.)

ABUSE, NEGLECT AND CUSTODY REFERRALS

The abuse, neglect and custody category encompasses a wide range of referral types. Children can be referred because of physical abuse, abandonment, neglect, or because they are involved in custody disputes. A breakdown of all the abuse, neglect and custody referrals is listed in Table 10.

Abuse		Neglect		Custody

Abuse, Neglect and Custody Outcomes

For Abuse, Neglect and Custody referrals, "True, Out-of-Home" was the most-frequently reported outcome category. Chart 15 shows the distribution of outcomes.

Age Distribution of Abuse, Neglect and Custody Referrals

Children younger than 12 were more likely to be referred for neglect and custody cases than for abuse. Teenager, ages 12 through 15, were more likely to be alleged victims of abuse. (Table 11.)

Appendix I: Number of Juveniles Certified to Adult Court by Circuit, Race and Gender

Because not all circuits and counties use unique individual identification numbers, and because two separate circuits might prosecute the same child using different IDs, a true statewide count of the number of children certified can not be accurately found. The numbers on this table have been unduplicated to represent individual children within the circuit.
